

Are You Interested in Making a Big Difference in a Small Company?

Fulltime Position in Golden, Colorado, with excellent benefits.

Position: Operations / MRP Director

Company: iSatori Technologies (<http://www.isatoritech.com>)

We need a two-type A, process-minded, self-driven person who is ready to work with the sports nutrition industry's top creative minds to produce breakthrough products, bring them to market faster than the industry norm, and flawlessly liaison with suppliers, manufacturers, and all other divisions of the company to keep up with the high product demand created by a superstar sales and marketing team all in an effort to strengthen our brand's position as product leaders. Accepting this challenge means you can keep pace with lightening fast sales growth and work intelligently to yield higher than average results in gross profits.

Fast forward one year from today. You'll work hand and hand with the CEO to have helped a private, fast-growing company introduce over ten new truly innovative products, sourced only the highest quality ingredients from around the world; qualified and secured first-rate manufacturers that can be held accountable to our high ethical standards; improved gross margins that bring the company hundreds of thousands in bottom line profits; developed plans that refined and improved the current workflow of product forecasting, production, and inventory management; incrementally improved manufacturer lead-times; ensured the company never lost a sale, while optimizing inventory turns, within a cash-conscience environment; and carefully tracked and established accountability of results that proves the effectiveness of your efforts.

The ideal candidate will have a strong track record of accomplishments in materials planning, manufacturing, and product development processes, particularly in a consumer goods firm. Your candidacy will leap to the top if you also have a strong track record of success in a company manufacturing and marketing nutritional supplements, beverages or healthy foods. You must be a superb problem solver, excellent clear communicator, detail oriented and able to get things right the first time to be successful in this position.

Our company will experience unprecedented levels of success because of your operational, process-driven impact on product development and materials planning capabilities. You'll be recognized as the hero who helped propel our company to a new level of product development success, far beyond the capability of our competitors. Your professional learning curve will be almost vertical. If you would like this story to be yours, send us a copy of your resume along with a two to three page write-up of your most significant tactical operational, manufacturing and product development accomplishments. We think your accomplishments are much more important than your resume and we'll read them first.

Please email Kay@isatoritech.com (Direct candidates only please).